Introduction

This readme provides technical guidance to the ACAPS Government Measures published. ACAPS' report on government measures maps initial measures adopted by governments in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. The dataset is structures as a registry of measures taken, extended or lifted, in order to allow chronologic analysis of introduction and phase-out of measures.

Methodology

Dataset structure

In ACAPS Government Measures dataset, every action taken by governments in response to COVID-19 falling into the identified measures' taxonomy corresponds to a data point. If a measure is extended, another data point is added. If a measure is phase-out another data point is added. This structure has been chosen for a variety of reasons, including the possibility to trace chronologically the evolution of government responses. This respond to the need of tracking carefully the measures taken: many times, government extend or phase-out measures in a different way compared to how they were enacted. Also, the phase-out would be likely more gradual than the introduction of measures. Utilising different datapoints for every action, allows a deeper and more accurate analysis.

Data collection

Data is collected and uploaded real-time by ACAPS analysts and volunteers from University of Copenhagen and University of Lund. Data collectors were trained on the measures taxonomy and in the dataset structure. The intended coverage of the dataset is global, with data available for 192 countries. The information comes from a variety of publicly available sources from the internet. Analysts navigate the web looking for information on governments measures, utilising sources from: governments (official sites, embassies), media, United Nations agencies and other organization. Priority is given to official/governmental sources.

Data coding

Data is uploaded in the dataset according to the following structure and coding system.

Data structure has been modified over time, following emerging new trends, and new analysis needs. After the cleaning process, the dataset is uploaded on ACAPS website and on HDX. The Dataset feeds an online dashboard realized with MapAction.

Measures taxonomy

With an initial "inductive" process, ACAPS analysts identified the measures types and categories by an initial work of data collection. As the data collection proceeds, there is a real-time review of categories, open to discussion within the analysis team. At the same time there has been inter-agency discussion on categories and measures, in order to improve, better-organize and better-harmonize data collection. As of 16 April, these is the taxonomy:

CATEGORY	MEASURES	BRIEF DESCRIPTION
	Additional health or other document requirements upon arrival	Authorities upon arrival to a country may request a health declaration format or doctor's certifications to allow entry.
	Border checks	Authorities may travel and identification document checks in land and sea entry points in a country.
sus	Border closure	A country may close the land or sea border with the neighbouring countries. Only nationals and residents are allowed through.
iệ	Complete border closure	A country has completely closed the borders for all - including nationals.
restri	Checkpoints within the country	Authorities may have installed check points within the country on regional borders or main road to a) conduct health checks and b) stop the internal movement of people.
Movement restrictions	International Flights suspension	International and/or internal flights may be suspended by government authorities.
Move	Domestic travel restrictions	Authorities are limiting the movement of people within a country.
	Visa restrictions	Authorities are limiting specific nationalities from entering the country or they are adding visa restrictions that did not exist before.
	Curfews	Introducing curfews in some regions or in the whole country.
	Surveillance and monitoring	Authorities may conduct electronic surveillance via mobile phones or other ways to do case tracing or to monitor the movement of people.
th %	Awareness campaigns	Authorities are conducting awareness campaigns on media, social media, public spaces, or elsewhere around hygiene methods, social distancing, of other measures.
Public health measures	Introduction of isolation and quarantine policies	 People have to self-quarantine or to be put in isolation units upon arrival to a country. People with symptoms have to self-quarantine or to be put in isolation unit. People who have been in touch with confirmed COVID-19 cases have to self- quarantine.

	General recommendations	The government has made general recommendations to people to be careful or given some general hygiene guidelines. This usually implies a weak response where other measures are not really taken.
	Health screenings in airports and border crossings	Health screening and body temperature controls are conducted by authorities in airports and border crossings.
	Obligatory medical tests not related to COVID-19	There are reports of governments having forced people to take health checks for conditions not related to COVID-19 (such as HIV).
	Psychological assistance and medical social work	Authorities have implemented measures for the phycological assistance of the patients, their families, as well as people in quarantine or lockdown.
	Mass population testing	Authorities are screening all the population of a country or of a region within a country.
	Strengthening the public health system	Authorities put in place measures to strengthen the health system. These could be: 1. hiring more doctors or other medical personnel. 2. building new hospitals and medical centres or expanding current ones. 3. Other
	Testing policy	Conducting tests to identify infected people.
	Requirement to wear protective gear in public	Masks/ gloves etc when required by law.
	Others public health measures enforced	I.E. sanitation of transports, additional health regulations not falling under other categories
	Amendments to funeral and burial regulations	Changes in burial regulation for example in order to limit the number of people who can attend or change the way the burial is conducted.
omic	Economic measures	Authorities have taken economic measures in order to mitigate the impact of the other restrictions to the economy and the society.
cio-econo s	Emergency administrative structures activated or established	Authorities have put in place emergency administrative structures such as Emergency Response committees etc. in order to coordinate the response and/or decide on measures and/or monitor the implementation.
So	Limit product imports/exports	Authorities are limiting the import or export of either food or health items.
overnance and Socio-economic measures	State of emergency declared	Authorities have declared a state of emergency. Usually this measure is used to be able to implement other measures that are not allowed by constitutions in a regular situation. This may also include state of necessity, exceptional state, state of public health emergency.
Gover	Military deployment	The military has been deployed to support the medical operations and ensure compliance with the measures.
bu	Limit public gatherings	Cancelation of public events. Limit to the number of people that can meet in public and private spaces.
stanci	Closures of businesses and public services	Businesses, public services and facilities are closing access to the public. In some countries, services are available online.
Social distancing	Changes in prison policies	Change in policies around prisons to mitigate the spread of the disease. This may include early release but also suspension of day-release programs, suspension of visits etc.
,	Schools closure	Authorities have closed schools.
Lockdown	Partial Lockdown	Partial lockdown includes: 1. The population cannot leave their houses apart for specific reasons that they have to communicate to the authorities. 2. All stores that are not related to alimentation or pharmacies are not open.
	Full lockdown	Full lockdown includes: 1. The population cannot leave their houses apart for specific reasons that they have to communicate to the authorities. 2. All non-essential services closed and production stops.
	Lockdown of refugee/IDP camps or other minorities	Limitations to the population living in camps and/or camp like conditions.

Limitations

ACAPS relies on the open-sources and on Expert Judgment of trained analyst in selecting the most reliable sources. This means that some measures might be not recorded yet in the dataset. Linguistic barriers also might have prevented ACAPS to identify all the available information. Some measures are also extremely "nuanced", so the data coding in some cases relies again on the "expert judgement" of the analyst. However, in most cases, an analytical discussion is put in place to reach a common analysis agreement for coding some "ambiguous" data.
